From the Boston Repository.

OUR COMMERCE WITH G. BRITAIN.

No. III.

Our administration whose estate real and personal lies in popularity, may submit the maritime regulations of Great Britain, and there is the highest degree of probability that after a few weeks of bluster and a message or two to congress, filled with old saws and maxims, they will tamely submit. There is not spirit enough in a hundred such men as Mr. Jefferson, to load much less to fire one pocket pistol, though both justice and honor should require it, against Spain, France or England; all this is as well known at Paris, Madrid and London, as it is at Richmond or Washington. But our nation is not composed of trembling cowards. It has some fund of spirit and if wrong and insult cannot rouse it ruin will. COMMERCIAL RUIN IS CERTAINLY approaching.

For Great Britain unquestionably will obstruct by force, all direct and neutral commerce, between the colonies and countries of her enemies. We may carry or import supplies, but shall not be allowed to trade in them, in any other manner. She has now two powerful motives for now adopting and enforcing this violent if not hostile policy—the desire to annoy her enemy and enrich herself. Let it be repeated it is impossible we should silently submit to this offensive arrangement, and we call on the soft flatterers of Mr. Jefferson, who have never ceased to cry British influence, to call on their chief to assert our rights, and if he is not too far sunk for such considerations, his own honor. In proportion as we would have those rights maintained with firmness, we would wish to have the matter understood and temperately asserted. We declare before-hand and we would not wage war by our own courts. We hope Mr. J. will call forth some other resources than his favorite arms of pleas in bar, by act of congress against British debts.

If things must come to extremities, let him, in concession to the habits and temper of New England, choose some other weapon better befitting a hero, than a quill. Confiscation of debts besides the honour of the principal would remedy none of our public evils; but by the damning stain of its infamy would aggravate them all, and who would be benefited by it, but the desperate and profligate debtors? Is it for such men our nation would consent to sustain a war, which confiscation of British property will surely kindle, and which we should gladly terminate, in a month after it was begun, by undertaking to pay, out of the public treasury, the amount of the confiscated debts? Yet from the known poverty of spirit of our rulers, and from their known situation too in power, which deters them from making efforts or imposing burdens, to equip fleets and protect our plundered trade, we may naturally enough expect they will think of no other measures of protection, than such as we have mentioned—the very measures they once before chose to rely on; and of such a nature as would tinge the white and honorable forehead of America with an Ethiopian shade of disgrace that all the purchased waters of the Mississippi could never wash clean.

We do not call upon Mr. Jefferson to go to war with Great Britain, France or Spain. We deprecate war as a great evil, but not so great as national dishonor. But we do call upon him to attend to the condition of our suffering and expiring commerce. We insist that after so long neglect, after entrusting such a poor helpless creature as Munroe with concerns so much beyond his care or even comprehension, it is now time for Mr. Madison to draw his quill. It is time for him to instruct a minister at the court of London, capable of being instructed, to assert our rights with plainness and spirit, but without insult; and to let that court discern our unchangeable purpose, never to acquiesce in its usurpations, if upon due negotiation they shall appear to be such.

If the man selected for that mission should happen to have any sense, he will certainly have some candor. He will not be able to approach the threshold of the question without perceiving its perplexities. To rail about the great Leviathan of the sea may bring him down to the level of Samuel H. Smith; and to echo the sentiments of Chancellor Livingston and Mr. Munroe himself, signifying that France will restore the freedom of the seas, will divide among three, inevitable contempt that Talleyrand now bestows almost exclusively upon two of our diplomatic sages. But in the very first step of a process of reasoning, he will see that the subject is attended with real and perhaps now, unsurmountable difficulty.

If, as we contend, the enemy of Great Britain, by opening in time of war his colony to neutrals, can lawfully exempt the cargoes from capture wherever they may be bound, it seems as if the naval sovereignty of Great Britain would be thereby rendered almost useless to her. Her enemy would scarcely feel the effects of war. At first, being obliged to sell his colony produce to neutrals, it would be sold at a very low price; but as the demand of the consumers for such produce is great and steady, the effect of such sacrifices would soon be, to invite the competition of neutrals; and the French or Dutch colonist would lose scarcely anything but the profits on the freight, which of all profits is well known to be the lowest. British vessels being, in spite of convoys, sometimes captured, and as war raises the rate of wages of seamen, it is obvious that neutrals would supplant the British, in the competition for the supply of the European consumers. To a nation whose ships are her arms, and especially in a war that daily threatens her shores with two hundred thousand invaders, these are consequences too terrible to permit her government to relinquish any of her rights or to be timid or dilatory in the exercise of them. On the other hand, if Great Britain sets herself up to be the sole judge of these consequences and refusing all explanations and modifications, will persist to annihilate our long permitted and for some years our principal trade at a stroke; if she enforces her project of confining Neutrals to the importation of the supplies for their own consumption merely, and forbids their carrying any surplus to any other countries, our neutral rights become of no value.

It would be infinitely better for our country, considering the matter in a commercial view, that whenever she chooses to be at war, we should be of course at war on her side, and under the protection of her flag. In other words, our independence would become a burden and loss to our commerce. He is a slave, a wretch, who would allow this scandalous calculation to suspend his judgement, as to the claims that honor, interest and duty make upon our government. Let us make efforts, before we abandon rights. Perhaps even yet, the negligence of our government and the incapacity of our diplomatic men have failed of blocking up every avenue to an adjustment of the controversy. An able minister might even yet find a moment favorable to some compromise. Great Britain certainly values the friendship of the United States at a high rate, and we ought to wish well to her cause. At any rate, if our neutrality cannot be protected by negotiation, let not our rights be meanly renounced by cowardice and despair. The people will not want spirit though the government may.

FRONTIERS OF AUSTRIA, Sept. 9.

The generals prince Prancration and baron Winzengerode are gone to join the army. The latter has taken an order to the general in chief Kutusoff, to enter Austrian Poland, which he has already obeyed, with an army of 80,000 men. The guards, to the number of 10,000 men, commanded by the grand Duke, Constantine, are marching to Lithuania, whence they will proceed to the Austrian States. Other troops from the Kuban, from Siberia, and from Kiow, will form different corps of reserve.

VIENNA, Sept. 8.

General Mack has already gone to the army encamped at Wels. The Archduke John goes to the Tyrol to preside at the Assembly of the States, and partly to inspect the positions and frontier fortresses of that province: from thence his Imperial highness will go to Italy, where he will take the command of the Italian army, the Archduke John, the right, and Prince John of Lichtenstein, the left wing. The Emperor himself, assisted by General Mack will take command of the army in Germany, of which the Archduke Ferdinand will command the right, and Prince Charles of Scharzenberg the left wing.

RATISBON, Sept. 12.

We have received intelligence here by an extraordinary courier, that the Austrian troops have passed in the Inn and entered Bavaria. The French envoy at Munich, M. Otto, immediately set out for Paris. Several envoys have sent off couriers with the above intelligence to their respective courts.

HAMBURG, SEPT. 17.

The French government has demanded of the electors of Baden and Witemberg the free passage of their army through those countries, and an auxiliary force of ten thousand men of each elector. This demand has been referred for the present, and couriers have been sent to Berlin, Vienna, and Petersburg, to request assistance in a case of necessity.

The Prussian minister, count Haugwitz, has been called from his retreat in Silesia, and sent to Vienna, to settle if possible the differences between the two cabinets.

Bonaparte's equipage is actually arrived at Strasburg, and upwards of ninety thousand men are by this time collected on the banks of the Rhine.

The Swiss, have applied to the Austrian and French government for permission to remain neutral; but this request has been rejected on both sides. The Austrians, however are expected to be the first to take possession of that country.

The elector of Hesse Castle has an army of thirty six thousand men on foot. The French have demanded a passage through his territories but have been refused.

A new levy of recruits in Russia has been ordered to the amount of one hundred and fifty thousand men.

By order of Bonaparte, the city of Frankfurt has been obliged to demolish its fortifications.

The French have ordered away their artillery from Cuxhaven, and every day the distressed inhabitants of the banks of the Elbe, expect their emancipation from their invaders.

COLOGN, September 8.

On the third the first division of the coast ten thousand men strong, passed through Mons; they have for the most part proceeded on their march for the Upper Rhine in carriages over Luxemburg and Triers. No more than thirty thousand men are said to be left on the coasts. All now depends on which party can occupy Swabia, and afterwards Switzerland for it seems the die of peace or war is already cast.

LEIPSIC, September 21.

The third Russian army which is assembling at Wilna, will be commanded by the Emperor of Russia in person.

GOTTENBURGH, Sept. 9.

Every thing here indicates the approach of war. The Swedish army is all in motion; several more regiments are ordered to Pomerania. The king was to leave Kellingburg for Christianstadt, on the 7th inst.

MADRID, August 26.

The Combined fleet which has put into Cadiz will go to Cartagena, and take with it 7 ships in that port. It will thence sail for Toulon, where there are still four or five ships of the line; so that the force of this fleet will be 50 ships of the line.

WARSAW, September 4.

A Russian army of 60,000 men, commanded by general Michelson, is at present in our neighborhood; and it is to proceed to the Austrian states in the event of war.

Latest from Europe.

By the ship Charles, captain Lewis, from Liverpool, arrived last evening, we received our London files to the 5th of October, inclusive.

We have collected with care a compendium of the war preparations made and making, at our latest dates, in Austria, Russia, and France. Under the head of each, the reader will find the situation, force, &c. of the armies. We have only to add, that the Austrian advanced troops near the Rhine were at Stochach. That the first division of the French army crossed the Rhine on the 24th September at Mentz—marched towards Weilbuch and Stanlingen, and were to be at Ossenbach on the 25th of that month. Eighty thousand conscripts were ordered to be raised in France.

Sixty thousand of the Russians were expected to arrive on the Inn, the 4th of October.

The files of this new war will be decorated with the following titled warriors:

France has sent to the field the emperor Napoleon, the favorite of victory, attended by Prince Louis his brother, and prince Murat his brother in law: Austria sends her twice emperor Francis II. accompanied by his gallant brothers, the Archdukes Charles and John, and by other branches of the imperial family: Russia also sends the emperor Alexander I. attended by his brother Constantine. They are all young men and several of them have been tried in action.

Prussia was in motion, she had a large force ready for the fray; but was apparently “Waiting till conquest should decide,

“Which was the strongest, safest, side.”

Sweden had ordered fresh troops into Pomerania; and her monarch had fixed his residence at Christianstadt, to be near the scene of operations.

No blood has been shed at the date of our accounts; but the next late arrivals will bring details of Battles lost or won.

IMPORTANT—If truth.

Mr. The Parry, master of the schr. Fancy, from St. Johns, Newfoundland, which he left on the 6th inst. informs that on the 4th two London ships arrived there, in 26 days, bringing London papers, which announced that admiral Cornwallis, had had an engagement with the Brest fleet, had captured eight sail of the line, which had arrived in England before the vessel sailed; & also that war had commenced in Italy, and a victory had been gained by the Austrians. If the above causes &c. are correct, the London vessels must have sailed the 9th of October. We have nothing so late. Our last London date is the 5th, and the Charles from Liverpool, sailed the ninth. Roundabout news is always to be received with caution.

BRITISH CONVOY TAKEN.

Our last English papers report, that the French Rochefort squadron of five sail of the line, in lat. 49, long. 91, fell in with an English East India fleet from St. Helena, of four extra ships, and 3 whalers, convoyed by the Calcutta, were all captured, excepting the African, a whaler. The Haddock sloop of war fell in with the fleet during the action; and proceeded off Ushant to inform lord Cornwallis of the news; that that squadron might intercept them. There were also fears, that a part of the English West India fleet, of 300 sail, from Tortola, had also been fallen in with by this squadron; but captain Lewis, from Liverpool, informs us, that Oct. 11, off Cape Clear he fell in with about 19 sail of English ships of war, and on the same evening with about three hundred sail of English merchantmen, supposed to be the homeward bound West India fleet.

The following particulars of the war preparations of Austria, Russia, France, &c. are collected with some care, from various sources; and may be considered as correct as round numbers generally are.

Austrian War Preparations.

The line of troops which Austria is said to have assembled, reaches from the borders of Hungary on the S. E. to Switzerland on the W. with a front towards Italy extending nearly to the Adige; and towards the north to the circle of Bavaria; with a covering army in Bohemia. This position covers Vienna, and the centre of the empire.

The troops composing this line are said to exceed 200,000 men. Of which those in Syria, Carinthia, Italy, Venice, Tyrol, near Wels, and Minterdorff consist of 271 battalions of infantry, and fifty one regiments and squadrons of cavalry, besides ing his brother, the archduke John, for his second, and prince John of Lichtenstein, for his third in command. The veteran general Bellegrade is with this army.

One of the armies of reserve is in Bohe mia, and consists of 30,000 men.
Hungary was to furnish 56,000 men; and Hesse Cassel had 35,000 on foot.
Two columns of the Austrian army, one commanded by the Archduke Ferdinand, the other by gen. Klenau, passed the river Inn, the 7th and 8th September, marching towards Donawert and Munich about 55,000 strong.
The Bavarian forces retreated before these columns, towards Wartburg, in Franconia. When collected it is said they will exceed 40,000 men.
RUSSIAN WAR PREPARATION.
The Russian Emperor, in his Declarati on to the court of Vienna (published lately) has avowed that he had sent two armies in to Gallacia, of 50,000 men each. Those armies, at the last dates, were making forced marches; and it was expected, by the middle of October would form a junction with the Austrians.
A third army was said to have assembled near Wilna (formerly Poland) and was to be commanded by Alexander I. in person.
The Russian imperial guards under the grand duke Constantine (brother to the em peror) were marching through Lithuania, for the Austrian states.
The veteran general Kutusof was at the head of one of the armies; prince Pancra tion, and baron Winzengerode, names of celebrity, accompany these troops. Gen.
Michelson, commanded another army.
Troops from the Kuan, Siberia, and Kiow, will form bodies of reserve. The re gular troops of Russia exceed 500,000 men.
One of the Russian armies was at Brody in Gallicia (about 300 miles from Vienna) the 20th August. The other was not far behind.
Thirty thousand Russians embarked at St. Petersburg, the 28th August bound to Swedish Pomerania.
The Russian troops in the Ionian islands exceed 30,000 and were daily augmenting by recruits from the Black Sea, which pass the channel of Constantinople without any hindrance. One division, lately arriv ed, was commanded by gen. Gerdue, a Frenchman; a division of 12,000 was re ady for embarkation at Odessa and Sebesto pel. It is a fact, no less than 12,000 tons of transport shipping had been provided by Great Britain, and were at the disposal of the Russian commander at Corfu. We have no doubt, the next news we have from this quarter, will be the transportati on of these troops from the seven Islands, to Ancona, or perhaps, Venice or Trieste.

writes, under date of 30th September, "By the late decisions in the High Court of Admir alty of England, it would seem that the importation of goods from the enemies colonies into the U nited States, must be made for the purpose intro ducing them into their national stock or general commerce; that where that purpose does not evi dently appear, or where an intention to ex port them to Europe does not appear, then his landing the goods, securing the duties, adverti sing them for sale, and re-shipping them in the same or another vessel for Europe, are not suffici ent to break the continuity of the voyage—which will be considered as a direct voyage from the colony to the mother country—and therefore render the property liable to confiscation."
"That the bona fide neutral purchaser of colo nial produce in the United States, may export it

FOR SALE,

THAT well known, valuable and highly improved FARM, whereon the subscriber resides, called SALISBURY; situate on the Main Road leading from Alexandria to Washington, about twenty five miles from the former, and the same distance from Georgetown and the city of Washington.

This Farm contains 1,600 acres of LAND, one third of which is in Wood, the residue enclosed and in good order for farming or grazing upon an extensive scale. There is now about 40 acres of Timothy meadow made, and in prime order, and 100 more might be easily made upon a soil admirably adapted to grass. The Land generally produces corn, wheat and obnoxious well, but as a Grazing Farm, it is perhaps exceeded by none on the East side of the Blue Ridge.

The improvements are such as would accommodate a Gentleman Farmer or Grazier, with a large family—consisting of a well built Mansion House, with a dining room, drawing room and eight chambers, closets, cellars, &c. Kitchen, Servants Hall, Smoke house, Dairy, Ice house, Overfence house, Poultry houses, a good well of Water, Stables sufficient to contain 30 or 40 Horses, a Corn house, large Barn, &c. &c. all of which at a small expense might be put into complete order. There is also upon the Farm extensive Orchards of Apples, and Peaches of the best kinds of Fruit.

The Subscriber intending to remove to the State of Tennessee, is induced to offer for Sale this Valuable Property, for which on receiving one third of the purchase money in hand, he will make the payment of the balance convenient to the purchaser.

Charles I. Love.

November 18.

FOR SALE, A TRACT OF LAND,

CONTAINING 1425 acres, on the Ohio river, in Mason county, situated about an equal distance from the Little and Great Kanawhas. The late general George Washington in his will, when mentioning this, together with several other tracts devised to his relatives, says "these several tracts of land are of the first quality on the Ohio river, where they are situated, being almost, if not altogether, river bottom." It is deemed unnecessary to be more particular respecting the quality of the land, as it is presumed no one will be disposed to purchase without making further enquiry, or seeing it. I will receive in payment one third cash, and the remainder in Goods if more agreeable to the purchaser. The Land will be shown by Mr. Robert McKee, Surveyor of the above mentioned county, and the terms of Sale made known by application to Nic. Fitzhugh, Esq. in Alexandria, or the subscriber in King George County.

Valuable Lands and Negroes FOR SALE.

THE Subscriber desirous of disposing of his distant property, is about to bring his affairs more within his reach and management, offers for sale the following lands and negroes, at prices so reduced as to claim the attention of persons wishing to invest money in such property, viz.

CHATHAM, that elegant and highly improved seat on the banks of the Rappahannock River, directly opposite the town of Fredericksburg, containing about eleven hundred acres, four hundred of which are in wood, and valuable timber, the rest in cultivation, and pleasure grounds—the land is in tillage is level, a considerable part of it has been highly manured, and the whole of it well adapted to the culture of grain, small grain, and Indian corn, as the crop now growing will attest. The house and offices are of brick, and on a large and handsome scale, with a garden in front containing four acres, laid off with a level and well planted with the choicest fruit trees, now in full bearing, and ornamented with forest trees and shrubs of almost every description.

There is on the estate adjoining the river, a grist-mill built of free stone, containing the modern machinery and two pair of stones, one of them French Burr—It commands a large country cul-tom, is well situated for merchant business, and has rented for five hundred dollars per annum exclusive of all the grain of the farm hopper free, which is equal to three hundred dollars more.—There are all necessary out houses, for either convenience or luxury, such as ice-houses, spring-house, barn, stable, offices, &c. &c. With all these advantages and expensive improvements, this property is offered at a price which the lands alone ought to command. There are also some valuable fisheries, and quarries of free stone on this estate.

Also, a tract of land generally called Clark's, about two miles below Chatham, on the north bank of the Rappahannock river, and within view of the town of Fredericksburg, containing upwards of four hundred acres. About one hundred and twenty acres of this tract is Rappahannock river bottom in cultivation, and is well adapted to Indian corn, small grain, &c. the residue is in wood, surrounding a height, which furnishes a beautiful site for building.

Also, a tract of land in Stafford county, adjoining Stafford court house, containing upwards of twelve hundred acres. This is good farming land, and has several tenants on it.

Also, a tract of land in Westmoreland and Richmond counties, containing upwards of two thousand acres, on which there are also several tenants. These two last mentioned tracts of land will be sold in small tenements, or in entire tracts, as may best suit the wishes of purchasers.

Also, a tract of land called Boyd's Hole, containing about one hundred and fifty acres, on the banks of the Potomac, in King George county, on which there are a comfortable dwelling house, store and tobacco inspection ware house. Few situations combine more advantages, it being an excellent stand for a store, ferry and tavern, the two first of which are at present kept there. The houses have lately been put in good repair, and the buildings alone will rent for three hundred dollars a year. The land is good in quality, and the situation abounds in fish, oysters and wild fowl.

Also, a valuable Site for a Mill, with 50 acres of Land adjoining, in King George county, and not far distant from the last mentioned tract. There has been a mill here for many years which has lately gone to decay, the dam is substantial and entire, and the situation for a country mill not equalled in that neighborhood, commanding a very extensive custom; the land is covered with cedar, which alone renders it very valuable.

Also, several Lots and Houses in the town of Fredericksburg.

Likewise, about two hundred and thirty NEGROES, of different ages, sizes and description. A sale of them by families will be preferred; to effect this they will be offered at a reduced price. As a part of these Negroes are at present attached to the Chatham estate, the purchaser of that property may be accommodated with any number of them, as well as stock of every description.

Bank Stock of any of the Banks in Virginia, Maryland, or the district of Columbia, will be received in payment for any part of this property at a fair price, and bargains will be given, as the subscriber unable to attend to property so distant, is anxious to convert it into Cash.

He will also rent a number of FARMS on his Ravensworth estate, containing from 2 to 400 acres each, on encouraging terms, to good farmers. They lay from eight to ten miles distant from Alexandria, George Town, and the City of Washington, and convenient to the turnpike road now building from Alexandria to the upper country.

JAMES KENNEDY, JUN.
DRUGGIST;
The following Valuable Medicines:

Dr. Rawson's Anti-Bilious and Stomachal Bitters.

PREPARED BY THOMAS H. RAWSON,
Member of the Connecticut Medical Society.

THESE Bitters have undoubtedly had the most rapid sale of any Patent Medicine ever before discovered, and are justly appreciated for their singular and uncommon virtues for restoring weak and decayed constitutions, and all that train of complicated complaints so common in the spring and fall seasons, such as intermittent Fevers and Agues, long Autumnal Fevers, Dysenteries, &c. They are also a very pleasant bitter for common use, and where they are known they have taken the place and superseded the use of all other bitters in public houses as well as in private families.—Price 50 cents a box.

Dr. Lee's (Windham) Billious Pills.
THE great sale and increasing demand for these valuable pills for these twelve years past, bespeak their intrinsic worth. They have proved singularly efficacious in Billious and Yellow fevers, Jaundice, Head Aches, Dysenteries, Billious Cholera, Colic, Constipation, Female complaints, &c.

The very great demand and high esteem in which these pills are held throughout the United States and the West Indies, has induced many to counterfeit them; the purchaser is requested to observe that the name of Samuel Lee, Jun. (the patentee) is affixed to each bill of directions, in his own hand writing, or they will not be genuine.—Price 50 cents a box.

Dr. Rawson's Itch Ointment.

A certain and safe application for that disagreeable complaint called the ITCH. Price 25 cents a box.
